

28th April 2016
Sprinks

In this update we view some of the images of our inaugural annual drinks night for clients and the Manchester property industry.

The relatively new space at King Street Town House provided a lovely setting to host our first annualised Spring Drinks Networking Event.

The view from the balcony was not for the faint hearted, as some could not stand too close to the edge, but certainly provided a dramatic backdrop to the event.

Our thanks go out to those who walked through the waterlogged streets to join us in welcoming the new incorporation of Guest Garsden into Roger Hannah & Co.

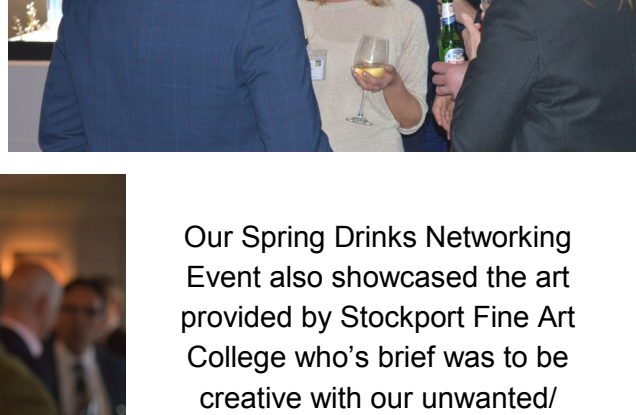

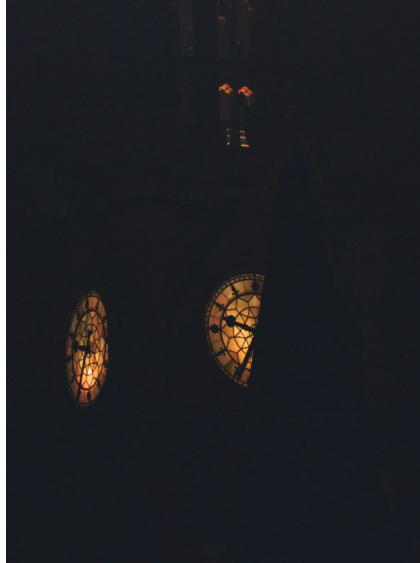

Simon Cook of Roger Hannah & Co said:

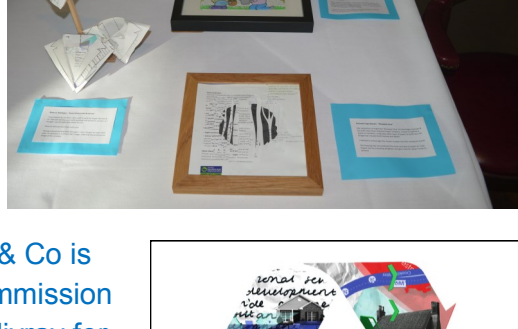

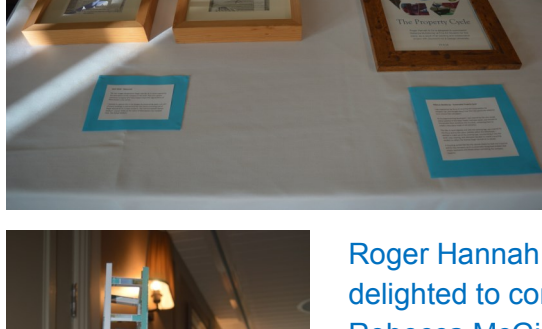

“Our merger with Guest Garsden will strengthen our position in the Manchester property market.

We are a growing dynamic business that is seeking to be the number one independent regional surveying business in the north west.

The Sprinks event will help to raise our profile in the City.”

Our Spring Drinks Networking Event also showcased the art provided by Stockport Fine Art College who's brief was to be creative with our unwanted/ unused paper (old marketing material).

Roger Hannah & Co is delighted to commission Rebecca McGillivray for this piece (image on the right) entitled:

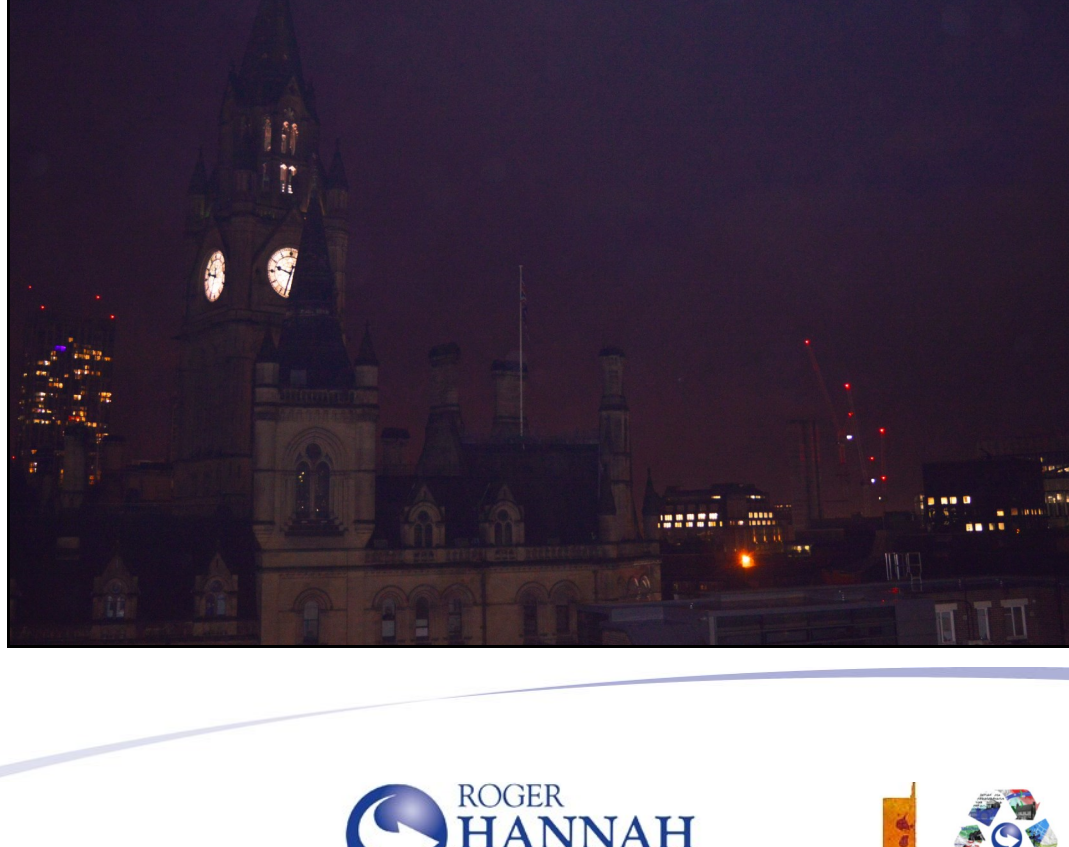

‘The Property Cycle’

Her creative Image will now be used appropriately across our online mediums.

The eventful night drew to a natural close as we reached last orders at the bar.

Roger Hannah & Co incorporating Guest Garsden really enjoyed the night and we look forward to seeing you all again at next years Spring Drinks Networking Event #SPRINKS.
